Adjustments to FEX Power Product settings

Introduction

In light of the recent movements in Power prices and decisions by the Australian Energy Market Operator (AEMO), including to immediately suspend the spot market, FEX Global has reviewed and determined that trading of FEX Power products will continue to operate as normal.

To support ongoing trading, the settings for both the Daily Price Movement Limit and the No Bust Price Range for FEX Power Products will be widened as a reflection of current and expected medium-term prices.

FEX Global will continue to monitor the underlying market and communicate with all stakeholders and will make further adjustments as appropriate and necessary.
